Video Content Creation

Results

For the results and overall outcomes, HVC helped Manny's achieve stronger brand clarity, clearer communication, and expanded capacity by the end of the campaign. HVC sharpened Manny's student-facing identity with a cohesive brand kit, formal and graduation event flyers, and a Mini-THON style DJ marathon concept that tie the space more closely to Penn State's THON culture and student events. At the same time, the team launched a working content calendar, delivered reusable social and outreach templates, and supported the hiring of four interns, leaving Manny's with both the tools and people needed to sustain marketing, rentals, and partnerships going forward.

Transition Plan

During the transition period, Manny's can use these resources by treating the brand kit, mood boards, and social content calendar as the playbook for all future marketing decisions. They should make sure new posts, flyers, and partnerships stay aligned with the student-focused identity already established. The event flyers and FAQs should become everyday tools for promoting rentals and THON-style events. Marketing staff can customize dates, details, and pricing while keeping the core messaging the same so outreach remains consistent and efficient. The intern team can rely on the content research, hashtag strategy, video scripts, and outreach tracking sheet to plan weekly tasks, measure what performs well, and update the calendar and campaign book as they go, ensuring HVC's deliverables remain living documents rather than static files.
